American Archaeologists
Researcher in Charge
Luxor, Egypt

Gentlemen:

The purpose of this is to inquire whether or not there are archaeological investigations and actual searches being made in the Valley of the Kings for additional tombs. It has been reported to me that such research is taking place in the vicinity of King Tut's tomb. I am wondering whether or not you can verify that such work is under motion at the present time and exactly who is in charge. I am extremely interested in such research and would like to make a connection with someone in Luxor who is knowledgeable in this field.

From Egyptian friends I have learned of such names as Tajah Sininust and Auenusav Atmmuvat. If there are such persons in Luxor by these names, I would appreciate who they are and would like to correspond with them. Any information you can give on research undertaken in the Valley of the Kings by American archaeologists or others would be most appreciated.

Yours very truly,

John E. Fetzer
